Olga Kapeliuk Awarded the British Academy Edward Ullendorff Medal

The Edward Ullendorff Medal of the British Academy ‘for scholarly distinction and achievements in the field of Semitic Languages and Ethiopian Studies’, established thanks to the generous support of Edward Ullendorff’s widow, Dina, was awarded in 2021 to Professor Olga Kapeliuk (Professor emeritus of Linguistics and African Studies at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem) for her significant contributions to the field of Ethiopian Semitic languages over the course of her career (<https://www.thebritishacademy.ac.uk/prizes-medals/edward-ullendorff-medal/>).

In memoriam Getatchew Haile (1931–2021)

ALESSANDRO BAUSI, Universität Hamburg

Obituaries and statements concerning the passing away of the great scholar Getatchew Haile (b.19 April 1931 Yärä Käräyu, Šänkora, Ethiopia, d.10 June 2021 New York) have been published on media by his family and the Hill Museum and Manuscript Library (HMML) at Collegeville, Minnesota, the institution where he had worked since 1976.<sup>1</sup> He was regents professor of Medieval Studies at Saint John’s University, Collegeville, Minnesota, and curator of the Ethiopia Study Center at HMML, corresponding member of the British Academy, MacArthur fellow, recipient of the Edward Ullendorff Medal, and definitely one of the most brilliant and knowledgeable scholars in Ethiopian studies ever.

The task of this short note is not that of repeating what can be more precisely and appropriately reported by closer sources, but to express the modest tribute of the Ethiopian studies community of the Hiob Ludolf Centre for Ethiopian and Eritrean Studies at Universität Hamburg to Getatchew Haile's memory and scholarly contribution. For this, Aethiopia offers a revised and updated version of a bibliography of his writings to obtain a greater appreciation of the breadth and impact of his work.<sup>2</sup> This bibliography is far from complete, as it comprises only a few of Getatchew Haile's writings that appeared in non-scholarly journals, particularly in Amharic. Yet, we remain confident that it can be of valuable service. A tentative list of reviews of his writings is also included.

To add a personal note, I did not have many opportunities to meet Getatchew Haile in person. Due to a great many commitments and a life spent commuting, I was never able to reserve a few days to visit Getatchew Haile at the HMML premises, with all its treasures, and the eminent Ethiopian Manuscript Microfilm Library collection. This was made available to us, to the greatest extent, by the doctrine, dedication, and unique knowledge Getatchew Haile offered to the advantage of all researchers marked by a generosity unparalleled in our field. As a result, he opened upon a new era in the study of the Ethiopian written heritage, and actually a new world. Never in the field of Ethiopian studies was so much owed by so many to just one. I can recall a few occasions, at the International Conferences of Ethiopian Studies (my first one in Paris in 1988) where it was barely possible to come close to him, crowded as he was by so many colleagues. But over the last ten years, upon moving to Universität Hamburg, I was able at times to engage in an intense and much rewarding correspondence with Getatchew Haile, initiated by the humble yet tricky task of converting into Unicode the many files of Gə'əz and Amharic texts he had produced in the course of time, which he passed on to me, and eventually used in his publications. I also took on the not too simple task of publishing as many of the works and articles he so prodigiously produced as possible, in series and journals I happened to be responsible for (well beyond my merit). Even at this distance, I feel privileged to have been among those who enjoyed, albeit mostly in the words of electronic correspondence, his profound humanity and his extraordinarily vivid and penetrating intelligence.

<sup>2</sup> A tentative list of his writings had already appeared on the occasion of his Festschrift: A. Bausi and T. Rave, 'A Selected Bibliography of the Publications of Getatchew Haile', in A. C. McCollum, ed., Studies in Ethiopian Languages, Literature, and History: Festschrift for Getatchew Haile Presented by his Friends and Colleagues, Aethiopistische Forschungen, 83 (Wiesbaden: Harrassowitz Verlag, 2017), 609–619. A few titles, corrections, and English translations of Amharic titles have been kindly provided by Mersha Alehegne.
